THREE DEAD TOLL HARLAN GUN BATTLE

Two Halcoms and a Davis Boy Slay Each Other.

DETAILS LACKING

Boys Meet at Church Near Poor Fork and Battle With Pistols—Results Prove Fatal.

HARLAN, Aug. 19.—The second tragedy to take place in the vicinity of Pine Mountain within the past week occurred Sunday when three men were killed in a shooting affray two miles from Poor Fork.

It is reported that two young men named Halcolm and a Davis boy about 15 years old shot each other to death at a church house. Details of the triple tragedy are not known, though it is understood that Davis and one of the Halcolms had previously had trouble. When the former came upon him at the corner of the church, Davis asked Halcolm if he were talking about him.

Halcolm is said to have reached for a rock when Davis shot him in the stomach. When Davis fled from the building he is reported to have met the other Halcolm boy and the two fought a gun duel in which both were killed. The Halcolm boy that was first shot was taken to a hospital at Lynch where he died of his wounds some time later.

STATION KEEPER SHOT BY BANDIT

Hopkinsville Man May Not Survive Wounds Inflicted By Masked Robber.

HOPKISVILLE, Ky., Aug 19 — A masked bandit shot and probably fatally wounded S. W. R. Faulkner, 58, Sunday night as Faulkner was closing up the Standard Oil filling station at Liberty and Sixth streets, of which he is manager, and escaped after robbing the victim's pockets of $86.

Several persons who heard the shots saw a man running up Sixth street to the L. & N. railroad, where a train was passing. It is believed he caught it.

A bloodhound followed the track to the railroad. Faulkner was removed to a hospital. He was wounded in the stomach.

City officials today offered $250 reward for the capture of the bandit and requested Gov. Fields to offer $500. The robber was roughly dressed, of low stature, and weighed about 122 pounds. His face was entirely covered by a black mask.

LAW ENFORCEMENT HERE IS "FARCE"

Statement Judge Forrester In Opening Harlan Circuit Court Today.

HARLAN, Aug. 19—The present system of "law enforcement in Kentucky is a farce," declared Circuit Judge J. G. Forester when he convened the Harlan county circuit court today with one of the heaviest dockets on record.

More than 700 penal cases and approximately 200 alleged felonies are docketed for trial.

"The greatest enemy of the American people today is the assassin and bootlegger. More homicides have been committed in the state of Kentucky during the last twelve months than were committed in the entire British Empire," the judge declared.

STATE PAYS FOR OFFICIAL TRIPS

Attorney General Gives Law In Letter—Regards Trips Out of the State.

Associated Press

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 19—The text of the Attorney General Frank E. Daugherty's letter to W. H. Shanks, auditor of public accounts, recently construing section 53 of the 1924 budget law, was made public today. The attorney general ruled that attendance at conventions outside the state should not be accompanied by payment expense accounts by the state Mrs. Cromwell, secretary of state, E. B. Dishman, treasurer, and Mr. Shanks were reimbursed for their recent trips to Salt Lake City, Attorney General Daugherty found. His letter in part follows:

"The genral assembly in 1922 and 1924 enacted a budget law, and each of the enactments contains the following sections:

"No officer or employe of the state, or any of the departments, boards, commissions or agencies of the state government provided for in this act, shall be allowed any expense incurred in trips outside of Kentucky except on official business, and then only after a request to make such trips has been filed in writing with the commissioners of the sinking fund and authority to make same has been approved by the commissioners of the sinking fund."

"It has been claimed by some that under this provision the state should pay the expenses of persons traveling outside the state. We do not so construe the section. It evidently was the design of the lawmakers to prevent the heads of departments and employes in departments from making trips outside of the state under the guise of official business so they may have their expenses returned to them from the money of the taxpayers. The purpose of this provision seems to be to have some check upon such trips and a commission to pass upon the question of whether the business upon which the trip is made is official business, and, if found by the sinking fund commission to be official business then it would follow that the permit to go on such business would carry with it the actual expense of the trip, as provided by law."

All Girls Alike In Bathing Suit to Turkish Cops

Associated Press

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 19—Turkish women must not bathe in the ocean, according to a recent edict of the local authorities, and the police have been given strict orders to see that the decree is given effect.

But this is what troubles the policemen: how can they determine her nationality when a woman has donned a bathing suit?

Non-Turkish women may bathe as before. Turkish women are more and more assuming western European habits and dress and bathing suits when worn by Turkish women look no different than when worn by a non-Turk. Is the bather a Turk, liable to arrest, is the question before the policeman, or a non-Turk to whom he will have to apologize for mistaking her nationality?

60 Percent Stolen Cars Never Recovered

Sixty per cent of stolen automobiles are never recovered by the owners, according to Chief H. E. Ball who has reports from detective agencies throughout the country.

But for the searching and immediate investigation which extends to all parts of the country not even this number would be recovered. Every day there are a number of notices coming from detective agencies all over the country, of cars stolen with offers of reward for recovery. A comparatively small percentage of the cars pass this way, owing to the chances of capture on the single outlet from this section.

NATIVE RATE OF BIRTH IS ON INCREASE

Alien Blood Decreasing Says Famous Biometrist.

NO "RACE SUICIDE"

Dr. Pearl's Observations Are Based On Life Study Conditions Throughout the U. S.

Associated Press

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19—Native American stock in the United States is on the increase and the indications are that the maximum population of this country in the future, which he estimates at 197,274,000 in 2160, will be even more distinctly of American stock than the United States of today, according to the studies in human biology which are to be published shortly by Dr. Raymond Pearl, professor of biometry in the School of Hygiene and Public Health and of biology in the Medical School of Johns Hopkins University.

Dr. Pearl's statistics dealing with the vitality of native and foreign born Americans are based on studies of the birth and death figures from registration states during the period from 1915 to 1921 inclusive. They show that the native born Americans, whose birth rate was practically equal to death rate in 1915, rose to 142 births to 100 deaths in 1921. In 1915 foreign born mothers were giving birth to 267 children to every 100 deaths among the foreign born. In 1921 their proportion of births had fallen to 237.

This shows that the foreign born birth rate, though still the larger, is on the decline, while the native birth rate is increasing.

"Constantly improving conditions of public health," says Dr. Pearl, "and their relation in the mortality returns have taken away any force that might at some time possibly have been thought to attach to the 'race suicide' argument against the general falling birth rate. Any population or any group that year by year is producing more than one baby for each death is not on the high road to extinction."

Dr. Pearl's method for arriving at the maximum future population of the United States is based on the application of a complicated mathematical formula to the figures of the past. In calculating that the United States will not support a population of much more than 197,000,000 at any time he points out that, though this is but 66 persons to the square mile, it is not reasonable to suppose that this country can have a population of 673 to the square mile like Belgium, which is supported mainly by imported food. With the growling demands for food in other not think it likely that any part parts of the world Dr. Pearl does of the globe can be depended on to supply America with a large per cent of imported food.

BRYAN ACCEPTS HIS NOMINATION

Says Honesty, Efficiency and Economy of Government Is Necessary.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 19—Before a large and colorful gathering of old time friends and supporters and national and sectional party leaders, Governor Charles W. Bryan last night formally accepted the nomination for vice-president by the democratic party and laid down in unmistakable terms the principles and issues upon which he will go before the people for victory at the polls.

In the center of the football field at the University of Nebraska Memorial stadium, Governor Bryan made his speech of acceptance, following the lead of his party's standard bearer, John W. Davis, who a week ago chose the open for launching the democratic campaign at Clarksburg, W. Va.

Governor Bryan definitely opened his campaign with a promise to the progressive farmers and wage earners that the democratic party would stand as a unit in seeking a solution of their difficulties. Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, who delivered the notification address, also proclaimed the democratic organization as the only one to which the progressive elements could look for direction and leadership, and asserted the presidential race would be between the two major parties.

The vice-presidential candidate praised his party's platform as "broad, strong and progressive enough to justify the support of those who believe in equality before the law," and declared the democrats have presented a program of progressive policies "for which the party stands as a unit.

He pledged his full support to Mr. Davis and declared both he and the presidential candidate are in harmony with the platform upon which they will fight for electoral support.

Explosion of Empty Jar Injures Finger

Explosion of an empty fruit jar, an accident that is without parallel so far as is known, resulted in injury of Mrs. D. G. Hinks at her home yesterday.

Preparatory to canning some fruit, she took the empty jar from the shelf and prepared to open it. It exploded in her hands, the glass flying all over the room and severing the main artery of a finger on her left hand.

Dr. T. H. Curd, who attended the patient, stated that the explosion was evidently caused by accumulation of gas in the jar during warm weather, the theory being that the moving of it caused it or burst. He stated that he had never known of a similar case.

He reported that the patient is recovering, though her hand will be sore for some time.

"If Court Don't Hang Them, We Will," In Note.

HUMAN BONES LEFT

Letter Delivered at Doorstep—Arguments Counsel Excpcted to Begin Today.

Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 19—Police are seeking the origin of the letter urging the hanging of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb for the murder of Robert Franks. It was found last night at the doorstep of the home of a wealthy neighbor of Loeb, weighted down with the bone of a human leg resting between crossed arm bones with the human skull above.

The bones were those of a woman, police said, and bore metallic tags causing the belief that they came from a medical school.

The letter reads: "If the court doesn't hang them, we will. Signed, 'K. K. K.'"

CHICAGO, Aug. 19—Arguments of attorneys in the Loeb-Leopold trial are expected today at the conclusion of the cross examination which is still under way.

At the noon recess, Clarence Darrow, chief of the defense counsel, announced he would ask permission of the court to have the defense make the opening and closing argument on the theory that the burden of proof of mitigation is on the defense.

Each side is expected to consume two days at least in presenting their summing-up arguments. The legal aspects of the trial are to be given at length by Thomas Marshall, indictment expert for the state's attorney. He said today that he might consume two full court days with his material. All three defense attorneys, Benjamin Bachrach, Walter Bachrach and Clarence Darrow, probably will wind up. Mr. Crowe said "a few hours" would be all that he would require.

Judge Caverly has given no indication as to when he would render his judgment. A fortnight ago he said he would shut himself into his study for several days to go over the entire reord of the five weeks' hearing. Guesses about the courtroom ranged from five to 10 days as the time the court would take to consider the facts and theories of state and defense.

OPERATORS OFFER JOBS TO MINERS

Letters Sent Offering Jobs at 1917 Rate Received Today.

Associated Press.

CENTRAL CITY, Ky., Aug. 19.—Letters have been prepared by the coal operators in this section to the union miners who were formerly in their employ, offering them an opportunity to return to work on a wage scale similar to that existing in 1917 which is about 25 per cent under that in effect when the strike was called on April 15., bringing about 8,000 men from the mines.

These letters should be received by the miners today. The whistles on the engine houses of the mines will sound a signal for the resumption of work on Monday morning, August 25. The operators do not anticipate any rush by the miners to return to work. However, they believe that some of the men are ready to resume mining coal and that in time full crews will be obtained.

President Lonnie Jackson of District No. 23, United Mine Workers of America, Western Kentucky, is still on his vacation in Indiana, but will return to union headquarters next week. Union officials stated today that there were no developments in the situation.

ENGLISH AND AMERICAN LAW

In Michigan a few days ago, a man strangled his former sweetheart in an effort to escape the results of an illicit love that threatened to bring his arrest as the alleged father of her unborn child. His arrest was followed by a confession of guilt that also implicated a present sweetheart of the murderer. Under the laws of Michigan, this man faces, life imprisonment only. The Michigan law does not impose the death penalty and the most he can receive for his crime is solitary confinement at Jackson or at the Marquette branch prison.

Solitary confinement to the ordinary person would mean more than death. To stretch out a life of fifty years or more within four walls of circumscribed area would inflict a punishment, on a person endowed with an active mind and normal body, more cruel than the lemp, the axe or the electric chair.

But to such criminals and those of their kind, the cell seems to carry little terror. In fact prison walls is a safe haven that guarantees freedom from work and certain food and raiment, to most of them. The only thing that carries a terror is the dark unknown that follows the hangmans noose.

The English law provides for death and for punishment by the cat o'nine tails at stated intervals during a prison sentence. England's per capita of homicide is far below that of the United States. A twenty year sentence in England that carries the whip as part of the imposed penalty, provides that the whipping shall be given say in the following order:

Twenty lashes with the cat o'nine tails the day the prisoner enters upon his sentence with the following certainity of forty more at the end of ten years and twenty more at the end of ten years and twenty more slashes at the end of his sentence. For ten years the prisoner is forced to look forward, with the memory of the lash behind, to the certainity of its coming at the end of that period. He can expect similar punishment at the end of the sentence.

The automobile has offered the murderer and the hold up man, a safe vehicle for his bloody and unlawful crimes. The man who jeopardizes life on the highway or in the home, should receive swift and sure punishment. Within the past three weeks a number of homes in this community have been invaded in the night hour by house-breakers and worse. The attorney who prostitutes his profession to save the necks and skins of one of these brutes is little better than the law breaker himself. It is vain to protest professional ethics in cases like these. When a man like Lawyer Darrow makes a howling farce of confessed murder in the Illinois courts like he has, it is time for the American Bar Association to look to the ethics of its professional life.

BEYOND THE PALE

Good news comes to the Jews of Russia. The Soviet government will shortly publish a decree appropriating a tract of 270,000 acres in northern Crimea and southern Ukrania for settlement by Jewish colonists from the congested and needed regions of southern and western Russia.

The measure is dictated not by racial or national but purely economic consideration. The living conditions of the Jews within the limited and circumscribed Pale of Settlement has resulted in overcrowding and poverty. Now that the Pale is abolished the Jews enjoy the same rights as other citizens.

It will be hard for the newly emancipated race to adapt themselves to the new conditions in Russia, as industry in the hands of the state and, to some extent, trade. The lands set aside will furnish a natural outlet to this industrious and thrifty people. The land is state land and is suitable for wheat cultivation. The the area at about a quarter of the ordinary railroad rates and it is planned to exempt them from taxes for the first years of settlement. It is said that Jewish relief organizations in Europe and America will furnish the initial capital to enable the colonists to remove to their new homes and give them a new start in life.

With the gradual readjustment of Russia along the economic lines of other nations, the Jews will find new hope in an old land and Russia will find in their presence a prolific economic factor never dreamed of under the former restricted Tsarist regime.

HIGHWAY CHAIRMAN FAVORS BOND ISSUE

Chairman W. C. Montgomery of the State Highway Commission has sent to the Headquarters of the Kentucky Good Roads Association a signed statement in which he points out that present pressing demands for roads construction in Kentucky aggregates about four times as much as there are funds with which to meet these demands.

Necessarily, he says, with only $11,500,000 available for construction during 1924 and 1925 and with $40,000,000 of work asked for, the citizens of a great many counties anxious to have their roads built are going to be disappointed.

He makes it clear where The Highway Department will have a perfect right to spend for construction surplus revenues received from motor vehicle licenses and the gasoline tax after sinking fund and interest charges and maintenance costs have been provided for.

Chairman Montgomery's statement in part follows:

"It is estimated that the revenue available for expenditure by the Highway Department for the fiscal year which ends June 30, 1925 will amount to nine million dollars and that revenue for the succeeding year will be approximately the same.

For maintenance, including reconstruction—$5,000,000.00.

For overhead expenditures—$500,000.00.

For emergencies—$1,000,000.00.

For original construction—$11,500,000.00.

"The records of the Road Department indicate that $7000.00 to $8000.00 per mile will be required for ordinary maintenance and it is the Commission's intention to use the remainder of the five million dollars for reconstruction of roads which are now in such condition that re-surfacing will bring them up to the standards of the Highway Department."

"If the bond issue should carry there would be available ten million dollars per year in addition to the present revenue of nine million dollars making a total of nineteen million dollars per year less Sinking Fund and interest charge of $4,250,000.

The urgent demands from all over the state could be met much quicker under the bond issue than under the present pay-as-you-go plan."

Life Clergyman is Dull and Trivial

Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. —The reason for the shortage of clergymen in the Church of England was described in what he called "plain, blunt and even brutal language" by the Rev. N. P. Williams during a sermon he preached recently at Holborn.

"The work of a clergyman is, in a great part, of a dull, trivial kind," he said. "It consists mainly in the singing of choral offices which could be well rendered by a moderately efficient gramophone. The personality of the typical clergyman, developed by exclusive association with women and children, represents the sort of thing that no self-respecting boy wants to grow into."

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

Washington—There won't be much news emanating from Plymouth, Vt., during the 10-day vacation President Coolidge is taking back at his old home in the hills.

At least not if "Cautious Cal" has his wish and keeps his promise.

On the occasion of his last chat with newspaper men before leaving the capital for the old Home Town, he remarked that he probably would see some of them up there and that he thought they would find it a very pleasant place to be.

"It will be," spoke up Charley Michael of the Philadelphia North American, "if you don't spoil it by making a lot of news."

Coolidge looked up with one of his rare but understanding smiles.

"All right," he said, "I'll be cautious."

How it came there is still a mystery.

Nevertheless, on the morning after the Davis notification ceremonies at Clarksburg, W. Va., at which Senator Walsh had said a lot of unkind things about the Republican administration and at which Candidate Davis also had tossed something besides bouquets at the White House, right in the center of the paved space before the entrance to the executive offices was—a big puddle of slimy ooze clay; gooey, sticky and very very messy.

Visitors to the White House circumnavigated it warily. But they, apparently, saw no special significance in it—perhaps didn't think much about it.

Then, toward noon, along came Gus Karger, dean of Washington correspondents, who interprets everything in terms of politics.

Gus cast one look at the mess, and immediately reached a political conclusion. For the affair at Clarksburg was still fresh in his mind.

"Ah-ha!" quoth he. "I see somebody's been throwing mud!"

Apropos of Clarksburg and the Davis speech, did the Democratic candidate undertake to coin a new word in his address of acceptance, or did he simply suffer a slip of the tongue?

Maybe he meant to say "misunderstood." Perhaps he was trying for "mistaken."

But the word as enunciated was "misundertaken."

Which, so far as can be discovered by a search of the volumes, Noah Webster and his successors failed to include in their dictionaries.

Although Coolidge has promised to be "cautious" and make a minimum of news during his visit to Vermont, no such consideration for the newspaper men is to be expected from Davis and the Democratic camp.

This is assured by the announcement that "Jack" Nevin of Charleston, W. Va., has been named "personal publicity representative" for Davis.

Nevin may be dependet upon to see that a daily grist of Davis news reaches every newspaper and news association.

More than 20 years of active news work, in the course of which he has traveled with every candidate for president since the first Bryan campaign in '96, has given Jack a background for political parallels and comparisons unsurpassed by any news writer in the country.

And on occasions when there isn't any news, Nevin, as "personal publicity representative," doubtless will be able to suggest something for the candidate to do or say that will be good for half a column. What else, indeed, is a "publicity representative" for?

ROBSION THANKS SUPPORTERS HERE

Successful Congressional Candidate Grateful to Friends for Support.

Congressman J. M. Robsion, recently re-elected to Congress from the Eleventh District in the primary which in this case is equivalent to final election, issues the following statement to his friends here:

"I wish to take this opportunity to thank each one of you for your wonderful work in my behalf. No man ever had better, truer, or more loyal friends. Through your efforts we received a big majority in every county of the district over both of our opponents. We carried the home counties of each of our opponents overwhelmingly. Our leading opponent was Judge Walter N. Flippin of Pulaski county, an able man, and an attractive campaigner. We carried every county over him, ranging from around three to one to thirty to one. We received every vote in about eighty precincts in the district, and carried practically all of the five hundred or more precincts. Our majority over him in the district is nearly twenty thousand. This is the largest majority ever given to anyone in a Congressional primary election in Kentucky. We carried Knox, and Leslie over him about 30 to 1; Harlan about 12 to 1; Whitley about 13 to 1; Clay nearly 5 to 1; Bell about 18 to 1; Pulaski nearly 3 to 1; Cumberland, Rockcastle, McCreary, Wayne, Russell and Clinton about 4 to 1, and Monroe and Laurel about 3 to 1. Our friends rolled up the most unusual majority ever given to anyone in the 11th district, and but for heavy rains in nearly all of the counties on election day, you would have given a majority of thirty thousand. This was due to the wonderful, active and loyal support of our friends throughout the district, and for which I am very thankful, indeed.

No Money Used

Some of the opposition in trying to explain this unusual victory, claim that considerable money was used by us. There is not a word of truth in this statement. We did not use a dollar except for postage, advertising and my actual traveling expenses. Our friends conducted our campaign on a high moral plane. While many ridiculous and false charges were made against us, and propaganda of various kinds put out, we made no charges against anyone. Our friends stood on the record made.

Good Will and Harmony

The people of the district have spoken. Let us turn our faces to the future. Let us all now emulate the spirit of Lincoln: 'With malice toward none and charity for all,' and unite to the end that we may give the best service to our party, to the district and to the nation. We have no sore spots—we have no one to punish. We feel that this unusual endorsement lays upon us a heavy responsibility. We can only meet this responsibility in earnest, honest and faithful service to all our people. Our earnest prayer is that we may be given more strength of mind to see the right thing and best thing for our district, state and nation, and given more courage to stand up for their best interests. We feel that after doing everything we can we still will be deeply indebted to the wonderful people that have so generously and signally honored us. We can only say as we have many times said, when anyone in our district feels that he needs our service, he or she should not hesitate to call on us for help. I am never more happy than when I can be of service. With every good wish for the health and success of one and all, I am,

Sincerely your friend,
"J. M. ROBSION."

INDIANS STUDY POLITICS NOW

Enfranchisement Red Men Signal For Interest In Affairs Political.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 19—Montana Indians, apparently aroused by the recent enactment of the Indian citizenship bill, are taking an increasing interest in politics. Several Indians, educated in the reservation schools, have filed this year for county offices, while Robert Yellowtail, three-quarter blood Crow Indian, of Lodge Grass, on the Crow reservation, has announced his desire to attend the white man's Congress at Washington as a representative from Montana.

Yellowtail, who is 35 years old, completed his education by private tutoring after his graduation from the reservation school. Encouraged by his tribesmen, he recently filed for Congress from the second district, subject to the primary election Aug. 26. He is opposing Congressman Scott Leavitt, of Great Falls, who is completing his first term.

Montana's Indian population is estimated at 13,000, of whom 7,000 live in the second congressional district. More than 2,500 Indians from the six reservations will be allowed to vote this year. Yellowtail, who gives his occupation as a rancher announces he will base his campaign on his knowledge of Indian problems.

Plans to Time Rapidity of Light Beams

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19—Whether light travels at exactly its estimated speed is a matter that Dr. A. A. Michelson, winner of the Nobel prize for physics in 1907, is endeavoring to determine by a series of experiments.

The computed rate is 186,000 miles a second, and scientists have used this figure in proportioning their light year, the yard-stick of the universe.

Dr. Michelson recently announced that he suspeted light travels a bit faster than 186,000 miles a second or possibly a little slower. He hazarded the guess that the physicists were about 20 miles off in their reckoning,one way or the other. He said that for a month he would try with the aid of government engineers, to time light rays flashed from Mount Wilson to Mount San Antonio, a distance of 44 miles, in southern California.

Granger Rough Cut

A Pointer on Tobacco—

The slower a tobacco burns, the cooler it smokes. Also the longer it lasts. This slow burning is due to the "cut". Granger is "rough cut" to smoke slow and cool—cut for pipes, not cigarettes. And Wellman's famous old secret method produces richer fragrance and taste.

BE LENIENT WITH FOLLY

Be lenient with folly!
Old age, severe and prim,
Let youthful hearts be jolly;
Thrust not your melancholy
On smiling her on him;
Time was your heart, as theirs are
Was tuned to mirth and song;
But now it knows what cares are
And trouble's years are long.

Be lenient with laughter!
Old age, by duty bent,
For Time, the burden-grafter
Shall but his cares soon after,
And youth is swiftly spent;
When you were young you mocked them
Who bade you change your ways
When you were young you shocked them
And danced away your days.

Be lenient when they blunder!
Old age, correctly straight,
Let not your temper thunder
And sweep their pleasures under,
Leave that to Time and Fate;
For once your heart, as theirs are,
Went leaping all about;
But now it knows what cares are
And they shall find that out.

Attack on Bible Stimulates Interest

Associated Press

WINONA LAKE, Ind., Aug. 19—Attacks made upon the efficiency of theological education in the United States are expected to stimulate unusual interest in the thirtieth annual Bible Conference to be held here August 22 to 31. The conference has had an enlarged attendance each year for several years, but its leaders predict that as a result of the recent criticism of religious educational work notably by the Institute for Social and Religious Research, there will be an extraordinary attendance this season.

The conference program will deal with such subjects as Bible interpretation, expository preaching, pulpit and parish problems and missionary work. Noted speakers have been engaged.

Canine Parachute Jumper is Killed

DENVER, Aug. 19. Jack, "the world's only parachute jumping dog," as the program had catapulted from the cockpit of a soaring airplane one hundred times. And each time the opening parachute had stayed his plunged with a quick uptake, while thousands of spectators wildly cheered the act.

Yesterday at the 120th observation air circus at Lowry Field here "Jack did his stuff" for the 101st time. But the little performer will act no more. For Jack's parachute failed to open and he fell 3,000 feet straight as a plummet falls.

CHAULMOOGRA IS CURE FOR LEPERS

Rare Oil Found Which, Judging By Name, Should Cure Anything.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—Uncle Sam has enlisted in the fight against leprosy from a new angle. At the Department of Agriculture's station at Bell, Maryland, the government is engaged in propagating chaulmoogra plants, from which oil will be obtained to treat lepers.

About 670 plants are growing in Maryland, and over 2,800 have already been shipped to Hawaii, the Phillippines, the Canal Zone and Porto Rico, to mature in the warmth of a tropical sun. There is no place in the United States where the trees will fully develop.

This work has been going on since 1920, when Joseph F. Rock, agricultural explorer attached to the office of foreign seed and plant introduction, visited the jungles of Burma and Siam, searching for chaulmoogra trees.

Tracing chaulmoogra history, Mr. Rock found that its seeds and oil "have been known for centuries to the natives of Burma and southeastern Asia in general as palliatives in leprosy and other skin diseases, and were employed by them both externally and internally."

There are about 500 lepers in the United States, as nearly as can be ascertained, says the United States Public Health Service. About 225 are in one colony at Carville, Louisana. A small colony which was located at Buzzards Bay, in Massachussetts was merged with the Louisana colony in 1921. There are about 300 registered lepers and it is estimated that around 150 have not been identified.

Those afflicted are looking to chaulmoogra oil as their salvation and the results achieved thus far with it lend sanguine medical men to foresee the day when leprosy will be added to the list of malaties which man can control.

ELK TYRANT TO PARK BUFFALOES

Lordly Forest King Plays Monarch Among Rare Animals of the Plains.

Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19—A lordly bull elk rules a herd of buffaloes in a paddock at Golden Gate park here. And the elk is not required to use force to execute his orders, but merely indicates what he wants done and it's done, says F. E. Slattery, for 21 years a custodian of animals in the park.

There usually are from 15 to 20 bison in the enclosure where the elk resides. Combat in the paddock evidently is distasteful to him for he frequently separates two belligerent buffalo bulls, shooing them aside in different directions. Furthermore he watches over the habits of the buffaloes. When he deems that they have lolled in recumbent postures too long and should be up and grazing, he goes in among them, touching them lightly with his antlers until they rise and shamble away. Slattery declares he never has seen the elk's authority disputed.

Free Street Decorations for Festival

Middlesboro streets will be decorated free of charge during the Harvest Festival, October 9-10-11, according to a representative of the Lewellyn Decorating company who was in Middlesboro yesterday. He reiterated the promise he made here before the Fourth of July when he was compelled to leave the job unfinished, saying he would sign any kind of contract to that effect, if desired.

The company is doing decorating work now at Corbin, Barbourville and other places where fall fairs are to be held.
